Madame Yale's
HAIR TONIC

Ladies and Gentlemen.—It has gone on record that Madame Yale's Excelsior Hair Tonic is the first and only remedy known to chemical science found to be a genuine specific. It has been used for over twenty years for nourishing and invigorating its entire structure. It is antiseptic in character, as well as stimulating; its action upon the scalp and hair is truly wonderful, inasmuch as it has never been known in any other hair tonic to effect a disappearance and to create a luxuriant growth of healthy, beautiful hair. It stops hair falling within twenty-four hours and brings back the natural color to gray hair in nearly every instance. It is not a dye, is not oily or greasy, but is a true hair tonic, making the hair soft, youthful, beautiful and glossy; keeps it in curl. It is a perfect hair dressing, and can be used by ladies, gentlemen, or children as a daily toilet requisite. Its influence is distinctly beneficial.

A Dozen $1.50 per bottle. Mail order may be sent direct to the manufacturer.

Washington Bears Of No New Developments.

None Looked For, Officials Say, Before Two Weeks.

Minister Conger's Instructions Have Now Probably Reached Him.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The state department has not been advised of any of the recent developments in the Chinese situation as set forth in various European reports. If Tuan has been degraded and Russia contemplates blockading Chinese ports, the department has no official notification of it. The Chinese government is well aware BASE BALL.

The following is the result of the games played in the National league yesterday:

Pittsburg 8, Cincinnati 1; at Pittsburg.

St. Louis 3, Chicago 3, called in the tenth inning on account of rain; at St. Louis. The second game was called off for the same reason.

Brooklyn 5, Boston 3; at Brooklyn. New York 3, Philadelphia 7; at New York.

SWEENEY DID IT.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 28.—It took Patsy Sweeney just six rounds to dispose of Paddy Fenton, the South Boston lightweight, in the old Bijou theatre here tonight.

NOW WITHIN BANKS.

DALLAS, TEXAS, Sept. 28.—Trinity river is once more running within its banks and no further fear of a flood is felt here.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Forecast for New England: Generally fair Saturday and Sunday, light winds, mostly east to southeast.

KING GEORGE OF GREECE.

that the promotion of Tuan would be distasteful to this government, but as yet no reply has been made to the American representations. Concerning the announcement of the discovery that Ching has been a contributor to the Boxer cause, this government only knows that he has always shown varying friendliness to the powers. The officials of the department will not say whether or not Minister Conger's instructions have been forwarded to him, but it is intimated that he may by this time be fully advised concerning the policy of this government. A statement, which may be significant, was made at the department that no developments in China are looked for before two weeks, or more.

Wants To Restore Harmony.

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—An official of the foreign office had his attention called today to newspapers containing the statement that Germany desires to take the diplomatic lead in the Chinese situation. He denied this emphatically and said that, on the contrary, all that Germany desires now is to restore harmony.

Three Powers Agree

LONDON, Sept. 29, 3:00 A. M.—Apparently Germany's retreat from an untenable position has been successfully accomplished. Says the Paris correspondent of the Daily Post: "An agreement on the Chinese programme has been reached by France, Germany and Russia. The plan will be submitted to the other powers in a few days. The action proposed is milder than Germany's original proposition. It is expected that the powers will accept it."

ACCIDENTAL PISTOL WOUND.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA Sept. 27.—Charles H. Collier, one of the commissioners to the Paris exposition, died here today from the effects of an accidental pistol wound.

SOME DIFFERENCE.

HAVANA, Sept. 28.—The Cuban superintendent of public works has issued his annual report. It is quite elaborate, especially in its information concerning the construction of roads in the island. The Spanish plan was one of neglect. In the 400 years of Spanish rule, only 275 kilometers of roads were built, as against 440 now under way.

JOHN BULL SENDS A NOTE.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Great Britain, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail, has sent the Dutch government a note declaring that, if Mr. Kruger is permitted to carry any state documents or archives with him on the Dutch warship conveying him to the Netherlands, it will be regarded as a breach of neutrality on the part of the Netherlands.

BAKING POWDER

ROYAL—the most celebrated of all the baking powders in the world—celebrated for its great leavening strength and purity. It makes your cakes, biscuits, bread, etc., healthful, it assures you against alum and all forms of adulteration that go with the cheap brands.

Alum baking powders are low priced, as alum costs but two cents a pound; but alum is a corrosive poison and it renders the baking powder dangerous to use in food.

BROKE THE DAM.

PARSONS, KANSAS, Sept. 28.—Four days' heavy rain has broken the dam across Lebette creek, and twenty-five blocks in the lower part of the city are partly under water. Many small buildings have been washed from their foundations. Below here, much grain is a total loss. The water works have been forced to suspend operations.

MORE BODIES FOUND.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, Sept. 28.—Thirty-one more bodies were taken from the ruins today, making a total of 231 known to have been recovered. There are 2220 men at work clearing the streets of the debris and taking care of the dead.

NOT THE WINDWARD.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 28.—The signal men at Cape Race today reported that the Peary exploring steamer Windward was passing by to the westward, but it was discovered later that it was the steel steamer Walrus.

NEW RULING.

HAVANA, Sept. 28.—Governor General Wood has directed that the expenses of the police be borne by the municipalities, instead of by the general treasury. This rule will go partly into effect on November first.

TAXES TO BE REPAID.

NORFOLK, VIRGINIA, Sept. 28.—The battleship Texas arrived here this afternoon from Newport, R. I., to have extensive repairs made upon her by the men who built her. The warship will probably remain here all winter.

ORDERED HOME.

C. E. Tilton of this city, who went to Cavite, P. I., last March has been ordered home by a medical board and is now on his way for the U. S. cruiser Buffalo, coming via Suez canal. He is expected to arrive here the last of October.

You will get a fine view of the Presidential range on the excursion through Crawford Notch on October 2d.

PROBATE COURT.

The following business has been transacted in the probate court for the county of Rockingham for the week ending September 26:

Will Proved—Of Eliza L. Tarlton, Portsmouth, Carrie V. Wendell, executrix.

Administration Granted—In estates of John Nelson, Eliot, Me., Statira A. Knight, administratrix; John S. Marsten, Rye, Annie B. Matthews, administratrix; Mary A. Batchelder, Hampton; Warren M. Batchelder, special administrator; Caroline Eaton, Seabrook; James O. Eaton, administrator; Annie B. Carpenter, Portsmouth; Henry A. Carpenter, administrator with Frederick M. Sise as his agent; George W. Furnald, Exeter; E. Newton Chase, administrator.

Account Settled—In estate of William Cockburn, Hampton Falls.

Inventories Filed—In estate of Mary Sargent, Danville.

Receipts Filed—In estates of Lucy S. Cushing, Portsmouth; Daniel C. Pease, Newton.

Guardian Appointed—Sadie A. Jones over Florence E. and Annie L. Jones, Stratham; Charles G. Gooch, Exeter, over Gladys K. Huth, Epping.

License Granted—For sale of personal property, estate of Mary C. Ingalls, Chester.

Probate courts will be held next Tuesday at Derry, next Wednesday in Exeter.

This is the best trip of the year, and you must not miss it.

THROUGH CRAWFORD NOTCH TO BARTLETT.

New Hampshire's mountains are well entitled to the fame which was long since accorded them, and one will be at once convinced of the truth and justice of such claim if a visit is made the region at this season of the year alone, when the mountain sides are beautifully bedecked with magnificently colored foliage. While it might be inconvenient for you to spend any considerable time in the mountains just now, the low rate Crawford Notch excursion on October 2 will afford you much interesting pleasure at a nominal cost; round trip tickets only $2.00. That part of the region in which you will be the most interested is entered at Woodsville, though an idea of the country is obtained in the journey to that point. At Twin Mountain station the "Twins" are seen as well as the "Sugar Loaves". At Fabian and Mount Pleasant there is a view of the presidential range including "Mt. Washington," "Clay," "Adams," "Madison," "Jefferson," "Pleasant," "Stickney" and "Deception". Soon after leaving Crawford in the Elephant's Head, Saco Lake and the Notch Gate-way, Mt. Willard, "Avalon," "Flume Cascade," "The Willey Brook Bridge," "Frankenstein Trestle" and a thousand and one other attractive features which are all included in the trip. Special train leaves Portsmouth at 6:30 A. M. This is the best trip of the year, and you must not miss it.

THE GUS SUN MINSTRELS.

The above company, traveling in their own private Pullman cars, numbering fifty people, with two great bands and symphony orchestra, will appear at Music hall on next Wednesday evening for one performance only. The company ranks among the best on the road and is certainly worthy of a packed house. The beautiful spectacular transformation first part, the superb music and the seven star feature olio acts go to make up the strongest and most elaborate minstrel performance that has ever been witnessed in our city. The scenery and music are alone worth more than the admission fee.

You will find surprises everywhere in the mountains on October 2d.

"GOD'S ACRE."

Such a wide dormitory! East and west the gentle winds go sailing in their quest among the grasses, as their whisper low. Mirth soothes the sleepers. Mothers as they go about their children's beds speak soft. So here kind nature seems most motherly and dear. Lighting her pleasant lamp at eventide, she guards this holy place, so still and widelike a vast homestead! All its friendly doors stand wide from dawn till dawn, and on its pores.

The sun its gladness and the cloud its rain, And winter's snows pass and return again, And God's great peace abides here. Changing time And shifting seasons, varied zone and clime, Are all one. Here sleep with sealed eyes God's own till he proclaim: "Awake! Arise!" —Mrs. S. M. Walsh in Youth's Companion.

AWFUL SLAVERY.

Tortures Endured by Laborers in the Sulphur Mines of Sicily.

"There are but few who admire the collection of beautiful sulphur crystals in the National museum," remarked the gentleman who collected them from the famed sulphur mines in Sicily to a reporter, "who have any idea in relation to the same except their beauty. I don't think," he said, "that there is another spot on earth where such abominable treatment, such flidish cruelty, is inflicted on the laborer as in the sulphur mines of Sicily. They are paid barely enough to provide themselves with a scant supply of the coarsest, cheapest food, and a good portion of the time they are in a state of chronic starvation. When I was last there, many of the mines were closed, and a paper stated that 30,000 people were starving at the mines.

"The work is of the hardest and most exhausting character. Very few of the mines have hoisting apparatus, and the sulphur ore (sulphur and limestone combined) is brought up from the depths below on the backs of men and boys. Long, sloping, narrow tunnels lead from the surface down to the sulphur beds 300 to 600 feet or more below. Miners dig the stuff out, and it is carried up in stout sacks or flat baskets. Many of the laborers, especially the boys, work naked. On their backs they wear a piece of matting or something of the sort, held by a string around the neck. This is to protect the flesh from being torn from their bodies by the jagged corners of the ore they carry.

"No one can imagine a more heartrending sight than to see the wretched creatures toiling up the long, steep slopes in the mine with their enormous loads. Every step they take wrings a groan from their tortured frames. Most pitiful to me was the sight of the poor, bent, broken and emaciated old men, mere battered wrecks, and the young lads of 10 and 12 years who have just begun this life of cruel toil.

"Staggering along under loads full as heavy as a strong man ought to carry the dreadful procession winds upward through the narrow drifts and tunnels to the surface where the ore is piled up in rectangular heaps and paid for by the cubic meter.

"As evidence of the awful severity of the labor is the fact that a very large percentage of these lads are so badly crippled by the time they reach the age for military service that the conscript officers are forced to reject them. And I assure you that the Italian government is not overcritical as to the physical condition of the men she sends by the shipload to Massaua to be butchered by the Abyssinians.

"When the miserable creatures leave the inferno underground and reach the surface, they find themselves in a veritable corner of hades. The sulphur is extracted at the mine by roasting it in immense heaps slightly covered with earth, not unlike in form to a charcoal pit. The air is so filled with sulphurous vapors and dust as to almost suffocate one. Not a green thing is in sight, for the poisonous vapors kill all vegetation. The fierce sun beats down upon one in those verdurous valleys with great fury. On every side there are hot rocks, nests of Impalas, stinging dust and the vapors from the calcining can only be compared to blasts from the infernal region." —Examiner.

Taken Up.

Judge Coffey of San Francisco is described by The News Letter of that city as having a strong disapproval of slavery.

A lawyer, he declares, should cultivate conciseness.

An attorney, learned in the law but afflicted with the disease of long-windedness in a peculiarly malignant form, was neatly cut short by the tart and astute Chambers' Journal.

A Bill of Lading.

A bill of lading for slaves is a curiosity in its way. The following extract is from one dated Feb. 1, 1765: "Slipped, by the Grace of God, in good order and well conditioned, by James —, in and upon the good ship called the Mary Borrough, whereof is master, under God, for his present voyage, Captain David Morton, and now riding at anchor at the Barr of Senegal, and by God's grace bound for George, in South Carolina, to say, twenty-four prime slaves, six prime women slaves," etc. It ends with the pious wish that "God send the good ship to her desired port in safety Amen."

However impious it may appear to us to associate the name of God with the iniquitous traffic, still it was looked upon by many as a divine institution, directly sanctioned by the Bible. The famous slave trading captain John Newton, afterward to be the Rev. John Newton of Olney, hymn writer and friend of Cowper, did by no means set it to be his duty to change his profession immediately after his conversion, though he ultimately became an abolitionist. He carried on slave trading for years after he was a devout Christian, giving thanks in the Liverpool churches for the success of his last venture and imploring God's blessing on his next—Chambers' Journal.

A Siamese Cremation.

The most magnificence characterized the cremation of the late Phra Chaoow Ratcha. A couple of shadow plays and a marionette show were within the wat grounds, and on all sides hung the rich banners sent by friends of the deceased, inscribed with wishes for his future welfare. In one corner was a booth containing the store of silver and other articles which were to be given to the visitors. Each of these on arrival was invited to dip into a black bag and withdraw a number corresponding to that on one of the articles in the booth, and the expenditure on these gifts must have been most lavish. In a pavilion facing the crematory refreshments were served, and in another one could watch the crowd or later on witness the magnificent display of fireworks. At about 7 o'clock the fire arrived from the sky, and shortly afterward H. B. H. Prince Bhanurangse came as his majesty's representative, to apply the first light to the funeral pyre.—Siam Observer.

Explained.

"Are you a native of this town?" asked traveler of a resident of a sleepy little hamlet.

"Am I a what?"

"Are you a native of the town?"

"How?"

"I asked if you were a native of this place."

At that moment his wife, tall and slender and gaunt, appeared at the open door of the cabin and, taking her pipe from between her teeth, said slyly:

"Ain't ya got no sense, Jim? He means wuz ye livin' here when ye was born, or wuz ye horn before ye began livin' here. Now answer him!" —Harper's Bazaar.

As Germans See the English.

A London correspondent of a German paper says: "English diet affords an example of the antiquated mode of life in England. Nothing could be more primitive than the preparation of English dishes. They consist of a hodge-podge, fat pieces of bacon, fat, and onions, by a scientist with half the alphabet after his name." —Washington Post.

Blackguards Classified.

An Irish cleric, being ordered to clear the court, did so by this announcement: "Now, then, all ye blackguards that isn't lawyers must leave the court!" —Law Notes.

The Maestrelom.

A recent writer says regarding the celebrated maestrelom that the inhabitants of the Lofotons are not in the least afraid of it, but fish right in the middle of the whirlpool.

Proving It.

"Keep up your courage, old man," said the passenger who was a good sailor to another who was leaning over the railing and paying tribute to Neptune.

"Never mind me," came the answer between gasps. "I've always heard that it took travel to bring out what there is in a man." —Detroit Free Press.

Student Manners In the Middle Ages.

Students were not always in residence for the rewards of learning alone.

We find such notices as this at Prag: "Students are requested to keep quiet in lectures, not to groan, howl or hiss; not to cry out at strangers or newcomers; to carry no weapons and write no lampoons."

Elsewhere we find: "Students are forbidden to break into houses in order to steal meat during Lent." —"University Life in the Middle Ages," by Professor W. T. Howett, in Harper's Magazine.

Miss Gump's Song.

"What's that Miss Gump is singing?"

"I believe it's a 'Milk Song.'"

"Oh, is it? I thought it sounded strain'd." —Philadelphia Bulletin.

TRICKS ON THE TREASURY:

Attempts to Cheat Uncle Sam Through the Redemption Division.

Mahy attempts have been made to cheat the United States treasury through its redemption division, so called, the division which has to do with redeeming partially destroyed government currency.

Not long ago a doctor in Alabama sent to the redemption division one-half of a $10 bill, accompanied by an affidavit saying that while on a "spree" he had used the other half to light a cigar. The half which he forwarded was nicely charred along the inner edge, and the story would have been very plausible if the redemption division had not received within 24 hours from an Alabama bank the other half of the same note.

The theory of the treasury officials was that while more or less intoxicated the doctor had struggled for the possession of the bill with some one, who had wrested half of it from him; that the despoiler had turned the half into the bank and received $5 for it; that the doctor, recovering his senses, had found the other half in his pocket, and, not wishing to lose his money, had conceived the plan of singeing the edge of the note and saying that the other half had been destroyed. So he committed perjury in an attempt to rob Uncle Sam of $5.

A short time ago a man in Chicago sent an affidavit to the treasury accompanying the singed half of two $20 bills and one $10 bill. This affidavit was typewritten and in perfect form. It stated that the defendant was a commercial traveler; that after returning from a journey he had been cleaning out his traveling bag when inadvertently he had thrown into the fire an envelope containing $50 in bills; that, in accordance with section 50-50 of the law of such a date, he would like to have the money restored to him, etc.

The clerk who brought this document to Mr. Relyea commented on its lucidity and completeness.

"The story seems unnatural," said Mr. Relyea. "Hold up the claim for a time."

Twenty-four hours later a big shipment of mutilated currency came from the treasury at Chicago. Mr. Relyea asked if there were any half notes in the shipment. In four or five minutes a clerk brought the missing halves of the bills which the Chicago man had sent.

The attempt to defraud was plain. The matter was put at once into the hands of the secret service bureau. An agent was sent to Chicago. The young man who had made the affidavit was put under arrest, and the story of his crime came out. He was of decent family, but had fallen into bad company and had been persuaded to attempt the fraud by older companions.

They furnished the money and prepared the affidavit. They cut the bills in halves, and for one half of them obtained $5. The other half they singed and attached to his affidavit. When he was arrested, they fled.

The gross profit of the swindle could not have been more than $25, and in trying to cheat the government out of that amount the young man forfeited his liberty for a year and a half. —Indianapolis Journal.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1900.

There is always this distinction to be kept in mind in speaking of the party attitude of the commercial travelers. The democratic drummer drums the wind, while the republican drummer drums the trade.

All efforts to induce Uncle Horace Boies, of Iowa, to inflame the atmosphere with a few burning speeches for Bryan have failed. It seems that Uncle Boies has not yet been notified that the republic is in danger.

There being no further business before the house, the secretary will now make the customary announcement that the republic is in danger, and gentlemen ushers will then take up a collection, after which the meeting will adjourn.

Here comes the London "Chronicle" describing William McKinley's military career as "one of the most remarkable on record." Now, then, gentlemen of the "anti-imperialist" chorus, altogether, with a will—"Militarism!" "Secret Alliance!"

South Carolina Tillman started in the other day to make good his boast that "we are going to make Wisconsin give 50,000 Bryan majority." Four years ago Wisconsin gave 102,012 McKinley majority, so it will be seen that the fiery orator from the south has a task of no small size.

Bryan rightfully declares that the workingman "wants something more than a full dinner pail." But the workingman has something more. A full dinner pail represents full employment at wages payable in full dollars. The trouble with Bryan is that he can't trace the backward path from effects to causes.

"Nothing should ever tempt us," says William McKinley—"nothing will ever tempt us—to scale down the sacred debt of the nation through a legal technicality." "Stuff and nonsense!" exclaims William Jennings Bryan. "Let us pay the debt in the easiest way we can. An American silver dollar will buy two Mexican silver dollars. Let us buy Mexican dollars, recoup them into American dollars and compel the nation's creditors to accept them in payment of their claims. If our creditors don't like that style of high finance, let them whistle for their money. Sacred debt be bluffed."

Making all allowance for high color in the report of the riotous attack upon Gov. Roosevelt and his party near Cripple Creek. It appears sufficiently disgraceful, but it is to be remembered that the Cripple Creek district is little more than a big mining camp, overrun with lawless elements and little subject to restraint from "constituted authorities." The disturbance seems to have been started by irresponsible hoodlums, and it is quite probable that only a small part even of the rough crowd of miners had any active part in it. There is no reason to suppose that Roosevelt himself was an object of popular antipathy and the incident affords little evidence of the real sentiment even of that kind of a community. If, as some of the reports have it, the assault was instigated by Bryan politicians for the purpose of breaking up the meeting at which Roosevelt was the chief speaker, his resolute demeanor defeated its purpose, and it is likely to have an effect opposite to that intended.

A SHOCKING CALAMITY.

"Lately before a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellogg, of Williston, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Buckbee's Arnica Salve quickly cured him." ## TIS STILL ON.

The Great Miners' Strike Not Yet Settled.

Conferences Being Held Without Definite Result.

Operatives Say They Can't Advance Wages And Meet Expenses.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The coal strike remains unsettled. Reports of conferences between representatives of the coal carrying railroads and the operatives come in. Beyond statement that the principal point under discussion is the advisability or practicability of granting the strikers a ten per cent. increase in wages, very little can be gleaned as to the details of the central figure in the negotiations for a settlement of the strike. It is generally believed that he knows what terms would be acceptable to the miners, and that whatever conditions he brings about will fully satisfy them. The strikers are jubilant over the latest turn of affairs and are ready to welcome any new concessions from the operatives tending to hasten a settlement.

To Continue Next Week.

SHAMOKIN, Sept. 28.—When the North Franklin mine closed this evening, those miners employed there who are not identified with the strikers decided to continue work next week and in the meantime to hold themselves aloof from strike agitators.

Will End Early Next Week.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The Herald will say tomorrow: "A man who is prominent among those handling the negotiations for a settlement of the coal miners' strike said today, 'I expect the strike to end early next week. It will be done by the men going quietly to work, in increasing numbers from day to day. There is no doubt that the men deserve the ten per cent. advance in wages, and they would probably have got it when the matter first arose, if many of the directors of the mines concerned had not then been on their vacations.'"

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

A BRILLIANT RECORD.

Secret Service, William Gillette's great American play, comes to Music hall on Oct. 1st, with a record of 360 nights in New York, 150 nights in Boston and 400 nights in London. It is a play that finds incidents in the late Civil war in this country. It is filled with military features and is resplendent with soldiers in uniforms and bristling bayonets, but war's most terrible ingredients are present only by suggestion although the dramatist gives the audiences' imagination a helping impetus towards the battlefield. All of war's thrilling paraphernalia merely furnishes a background however for one of the most surprising stories of a woman's heart and a noble man's love that have ever been written. In the unfolding of this story, Mr. Gillette surpasses all his own previous cleverness. His play is a succession of situations that rivet the heart and keep the emotions always on the jump and the element of suspense so necessary to a successful drama is ever present until the last curtain falls.

If you have never been through the Crawford Notch, you can do so next Tuesday for $2.00.

A FAMOUS TROUPE.

The attraction to appear at Music hall, Tuesday evening next, is one whose success has electrified the people of this continent and has been echoed in all parts of the civilized world. All creation singing the coon song, and the cake walk is the reigning fad in exclusive circles. This popular and unparalleled inspiration began with the first performance of the Black Patti Troubadour several years ago, and the craze is now riding on a tidal wave of public interest with no apparent sign of receding. The Black Patti Troubadour is the attraction which incited the form of entertainment which has brought joy and laughter to untold millions. It comes to town with Black Patti, the greatest singer of her race, Al Watts and Irving Jones, leading comedy geniuses of their race, and forty other castaways in ebony, with the latest and most fascinating features in coon songs, buck dances, cake walks and operatic masterpieces.

REV. FATHER DUCEY AMONG THE STRIKERS.

One of the most impartial intellects brought to bear on the mammoth strike of Pennsylvania coal miners is that of Rev. Father Thos. J. Ducey of New York, who is making an extensive tour of the mining districts in order to form his opinion of the justice of the strikers' demands. This picture shows Father Ducey with a group of miners on a street in Scranton.

conferences. The operatives generally declare that such an increase cannot be granted and the expenses of carrying the coal met, without an advance in the price of the coal, and the larger operatives contend that any further advance in the selling price is inexpedient because the competition of the bituminous coal is now too sharp. President Mitchell of the Mine Workers' union is reticent on the point of accepting the ten per cent. increase without other concessions and declined to be interviewed on the matter. Quietude has prevailed today throughout the affected district. All eyes have been turned toward New York, with the expectation of some important announcement from there.

NOT A PARTY TO THEM.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—President Tassart of the Pennsylvania railroad was seen this afternoon by a representative of the Associated Press and asked whether he had anything to say about the statement made yesterday and to day that an early settlement of the anthracite coal strike is probable. He said that he had read it, but that the Pennsylvania road was not a party to the negotiations referred to. The Pennsylvania, he added, is so small a factor in the coal carrying trade that the other lines can go ahead and do about as they please without consulting it in the matter.

The Sheriff Meets Gobin.

SHERWOOD, Sept. 28.—Sheriff Tool came to town late this afternoon and engaged in a lengthy conference with General Gobin at headquarters. Nothing definite is known as to the matters of discussion.

NO Great Change.

HAZELTON, Sept. 28.—Notwithstanding reports of an impending settlement of the strike, there has been no great change in the situation today. It has probably been the most inactive for President Mitchell and his staff, of all the days since the strike commenced. That President Mitchell is waiting for information from New York is certain, for he once remarked today that "those fellows there have the whole thing in their hands." He also observed that something might develop before night.

FACTS ON IMMIGRATION

The Annual Report of Commissioner Fitchie.

HUNDRED THOUSAND INCREASE.

More Persons Come Here From Austria-Hungary Than From Any Other Country—Many More From Russia Than Heretofore.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The annual report of Thomas J. Fitchie, commissioner of immigration at the port of New York, has been made public. In this report Mr. Fitchie says:

"Notwithstanding the fact that the immigration for this year shows an increase of nearly 100,000 over that of the previous year, our record of immigration—viz., the Scandinavian countries, the German empire and the United Kingdom—all together contributed only 9,722 immigrants toward this increase, while Great Britain itself actually sent us a smaller number of immigrants than ever before. The immigration from these countries is, therefore, rapidly reaching a point where it may be considered as a negligible quantity. Immigration from Austria-Hungary has increased from $3,000 to $9,000 since the last annual report, and, although Russia shows a considerable numerical and relative increase, still this immigration contains no new elements. It is made up of about the same proportion of Hebrews, Poles, Germans and Finns as usual. No other elements in Russia's complex population evince any inclination to come here, and it is highly improbable that they ever will. There are, however, abundant indications that for new developments in immigration we should not look only to those elements in Austria-Hungary's population, now well represented, but also realize that this movement is steadily extending to the southeast and is going to show increasing numbers from the Balkan states, Greece and Turkey."

"The immigration of the Croats and Slovenes, which started but a few years ago, is now more than double that of the English. Roumania sends us practically as many as Norway. The Servians and Bulgarians also form the nucleus for colonies in several of our large cities. From just such small beginnings a few years ago the Greeks and Serbians have come to have important colonies in nearly every city in this country."

Sportsmen who have just returned from a gunning trip say that it is very difficult to find the birds just now. In places where it was formerly known that they could be found feeding at any time, there is entire absence of game. This is due in a great measure to the drought, as the birds in order to find feed have changed to some other locality.

MISSING TWO MONTHS.

William H. Dow Left a Family in Destitution Here—Seen in Lynn.

William H. Dow, for the past ten years employed in the Portsmouth shoe factory and in the Morley button factory, has been missing from his home here for the past two months and his family is in very destitute circumstances.

The family consists of a wife and four children, the eldest child being only eight years of age. The arrival of another little one is expected soon. Under these conditions the case is a very appealing one.

Dow came here from Lynn, Mass., and for a time after his arrival the family was well cared for and a happy one. Then it is said that he took to drinking and things went from bad to worse. His fellow workmen helped him on many occasions, but he seems to have derived more benefit from the help than his family.

The family has lived on Cornwall street and on McDonough street, and for some time past has occupied a house on Albany street. Mrs. Dow is said to be a woman deserving of much respect and is worthy.

She has had no word from her husband since he left and he did not tell her that he intended to go away.

The police say that Dow has been seen in Lynn within a month and believe that he has deserted his family. They will take charge of the case.

You will get your money's worth on the Crawford Notch excursion next Tuesday.

The recent launching at Currier's shipyard at Newburyport of the schooner Edith H. Symington recalls the fact that she is the first large vessel to be built at that place in ten years. A number of fine sailing ships and others types were constructed there years ago, and the launching of the latest is looked upon as indicating that the industry will secure another lease of life.

Sportsmen who have just returned from a gunning trip say that it is very difficult to find the birds just now. In places where it was formerly known that they could be found feeding at any time, there is entire absence of game. This is due in a great measure to the drought, as the birds in order to find feed have changed to some other locality.

Two-dollar excursion through Crawford Notch on October 2d.

BIG MACKEREL CATCH.

Captain Henry Handoff of Kittery Point came into Newton's wharf on Friday morning, with his fishing vessel laden with two thousand fine mackerel. He made this catch on the fishing ground known as the "Southeast," Thursday night, and but for a squall that struck him, would have gathered in three or four times the number that did land in his nets.

TRANSFERRED BY BARGES.

Owing to the breaking of the rudder post of the steamer Mystic early on Friday evening, the boat had to give up her fury runs, and the P. K. & X. road transferred its passengers from the ferry landing in this city to Kittery by means of barges. The Ing Howell is on the route in place of the Mystic today.

STATE FIREMEN MEET.

Chief Randall of Portsmouth, Treasurer of the State Organization.
